

FEAT OF CRIMINAL CHARGE PLOT FOR DOWNFALL OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY

"For six months Mr. Cabot has been on his knees praying that Pelletier would bring such a suit against him. He wants the suit that he might expect certain facts in his possession which Pelletier wouldn't care to have made public.

"Pelletier hasn't got nerve enough to bring such a suit against Mr. Cabot."

The outbreak of a long-standing feud between Ward and Ward officials and the District Attorney over Pelletier's alleged inactivity in promoting certain Wharton bills disclosed the fact that private detective have been trailing Mr. Pelletier for months in an attempt to get something on him.

It is known that Mr. Cabot and associates in the Ward and Ward Society find a portion in the Supreme Court for Mr. Pelletier's removal. This suit was withdrawn because of error in form.

It was said today that a new petition had been filed, which is now before court officials and the Bar Association.

Who installed the diagram and who discovered it in Mr. Pelletier's office, neither Mr. Cabot nor Mr. Pelletier would discuss today. Friends of the District Attorney said the instrument had been in the office but a short time when Mr. Pelletier was tipped off about it.

From that time on he is said to have treated the affair with unusual care and even went so far as to notify Pelletier through conversations with his friends on the instrument of his movements.

The diagram is said to have laid out the plan of the attack on Mr. Pelletier.

Mr. Pelletier was in the office in an office in Ward's Hall reported to have been rented by Mr. Cabot.

District Attorney Pelletier and his legal advisers were in conference today as to what action if any should be taken against Mr. Cabot or the Ward and Ward Society. It was reported that intention to have Mr. Cabot indicted criminally were finally passed up.

"This seems to be a case of much ado about nothing," said one of Mr. Pelletier's friends to the American today. "These charges of Mr. Cabot's alleged inactivity in promoting certain Wharton bills after it had been placed in position. He preferred to consider the matter as a joke. It was to check up on Mr. Cabot he obtained the services of all the people who were in any way connected with operation of the machine and those are the people who are now in the office."

In political circles it is said that Mr. Pelletier's friends to the American today. Mr. Pelletier, while it is not charged that he was doing anything to help the machine, it is claimed that he was using it in his own interests.

In addition to making use of the machine, it is claimed that the district attorney also made use of private detectives. These detectives followed Pelletier wherever he moved.

fact, it is said that they became so persistent that Mr. Pelletier discovered them.

Thus according to the story in circulation, whenever the district attorney found the occasion for journeying to New York, he would telephone the office of the firm of private detectives and inform them of his intended movements.

NAME RULED OUT.
It will be recalled that it is the last names of Mr. Pelletier was soundly defeated by Pelletier. It was announced that Edward J. Sullivan of Winthrop would make the run on the same sort of papers.

Some political writers and dispatchers were amazed to hear that Pelletier had withdrawn from the race. The fact that Pelletier was making the run was carried into the Hall of Representatives, with the result that it was shown before had been practiced by his enemy and his name ruled out of the ballot.

It was just before Mr. Pelletier withdrew that the district was found, according to one well informed, at that time it was rumored in political circles that Mr. Pelletier had had an understanding with those behind the machine that he would not be a candidate. In fact, the rumor was that Mr. Pelletier had been promised a position in the machine if he did not run.

Throughout the campaign the story persisted that the Pelletier candidate was fostered by the district attorney. It was never a secret of those state politics that Mr. Cabot, through his connection with the Ward and Ward Society, had been persistent in his efforts to unseat A. Pelletier.

MOVIE AGAINST PELLETIER.
Pelletier had been filed against Pelletier with Justice DeCoursey of the Supreme Court. They were referred to Chief Justice Hughes, and he was referred to the Bar Association. The committee to hear them was headed by former Supreme Justice Henry C. Hooper. As yet there has been no announcement of the finding in the hearings.

KNAPPE OF SUITORS SOUGHT
Father of Mansfield Young Woman Believes Admirer Spurred Her Away

Today before applying for a warrant, according to Chief Nelson, he showed a picture of the girl to the district attorney. The picture was a portrait of a young woman, and the district attorney was asked to identify it.

The police say that Miss Delahogue was the belle of the Italian colony of Mansfield, she had many admirers, but only two had made the offer of marriage. A certain John H. Hanks and a man whom the father knew only as "Tony."

ONE SISTER WAS JEALOUS.
According to the police the girl treated both admirers, but one had reason to believe that she slightly favored the first. Infatuated as she was, the man determined to abduct her, believing that this act of daring would appeal to the romantic spirit of the young woman.

This man, whose name was given the police, then arranged with a friend to carry out the plan. With the aid of a modern Lincoln, he swooped down on Miss Delahogue in an automobile as she was returning from work in the Lowmy chocolate factory.

When the car was returning from work in the Lowmy chocolate factory, the girl was walking home with the girl, who was walking home with the girl, who was walking home with the girl.

MYSTERY LIFTED SUICIDE OF BEAUTY
Mrs. Steane Was German-Pole; Claimed Her Son Was Heir to Austrian Throne

her mother calling her from the great beyond. At that time Mrs. Steane was said to have wanted to die, and she had told her husband that she had decided to do so.

"My wife always believed that her parents had committed suicide," Mrs. Steane was always during the time she was in the hospital, and her husband drank one bottle of champagne between them, he testified.

Captain Steane told vaguely of some occurrence in his wife's past, but he did not give the details. He went on to say that she had told him of the affair in her life. It developed that her first attempt at suicide came after her engagement had been broken with another man.

Among the witnesses called was Lord Willoughby de Broke, who had known Mrs. Steane.

The testimony showed that the young woman was not an American, as many believed, but a German-Pole by birth. She was taken to the United States when she was six years of age and spent her early life in England.

Mrs. Steane's first husband was George Osborn Haynes, a Canadian, to whom she was married at the age of 17. Their marriage was of short duration and afterwards Haynes served in the British air service.

CLAIMED SON WAS A PRINCE.
Mrs. Steane was fond of claiming that she was the daughter of Prince Rudolph of Austria, and that her young son was the rightful heir to the Austrian throne, but this was never officially substantiated.

It is understood that Haynes recently called at Mrs. Steane's apartment and attempted to see her, but she refused to see him. This, it was brought out at the inquest, greatly upset the young woman and also was very disconcerting afterward.

Mrs. Steane's second husband was Donald Sheldale Andrews, who was married under romantic circumstances at Manhattan, N. Y., in 1913. Andrews was a Yale graduate and the son of Matthew Andrews of Cleveland, O., a business associate of the late Mark Hanna.

Mrs. Steane was also of short duration. Andrews is said now to be in Michigan.

The youth and beauty of the victim had procured for her high society circles and the similarity of the circumstances of her death to those of a prince's last year combined to make her case the most sensational of the fashionable West had ever known.

W. E. ("PUSSYFOOT") JOHNSON, American "dry" leader, who lost first round in battle with "Demon Rum" in London.

London, Nov. 14.—W. E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, American leader of the "dry" workers in Great Britain, who was mobbed by a crowd of medical students yesterday while attempting to make a prohibition speech in St. James's Hall, was suffering from black eye and a strained back today, but he is still game and full of fight.

Mr. Johnson tried to hide from reporters but he could not get away so he attempted to straighten himself up to give his opinion of the reception on the first public appearance in London.

"It was only a little bit of a party in the party," said the dry leader. He paused, then continued. "We are going to carry on. That will be the work of the future, but I suppose I will be out of it for a while for I have been ordered to take absolute rest."

Advocates of Mr. Johnson who can see no value in "pussyfoot" completing expressed the view that the demonstration of the students in the best kind of advertising for the "dry" cause in Great Britain. They indicated that a little more of the same kind would help a cause.

RE SERVATION OF HOPE OF THE DEMOCRATS

Washington, Nov. 14.—The administration forces are only disclosed today that they intended to continue their fight against the reservations to the German peace treaty proposed by the Republican majority, but they would attempt to fall back on two reservations of their own before the end of the battle.

Their leaders, in making their move, sincerely reservedly expressed the belief that enough of the Republican Senators who, because of their desire to "save the treaty from defeat," are known as "mild reservationists," would support a "compromise" to provide eventually a satisfactory solution of the existing situation.

Where Are You Going to Buy Your New Overcoat?

Here are the reasons why many men are buying theirs now at White's and why many more will head this way when that cold wave from the West hits us.

Reason 1

Kirschbaum men's overcoats are 100% wool—for wear, for warmth, for the satisfactory feeling that a man has when he knows without question his clothes are quality.

Reason 2

They are tailored by Kirschbaum—that means the highest grade; that means thoroughness; that means the correct styles for men. By "correct" we mean the styles that are sanctioned by men who dress well, here in Boston as well as in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago. There are coats here made by other well-known men's tailors—and there are imported English coats to give variety in selection.

Reason 3

Boston men in great numbers are turning to White's for their clothing—as they never have before. In two or three days we are selling more suits and overcoats than we used to sell—even recently—in a week.

We are convinced from what men tell us, as well as from our own observation, that we are giving the best men's clothing values in Boston.

Kirschbaum Double Breasted Overcoats

Congressman White Says Sir Andrew McPhail is "Pipe-Dreaming" on Boundary

Washington, Nov. 14.—Sir Andrew McPhail of Canada is having a pipe dream, when he says that Canada is entitled to any part of Maine property, said Congressman Wallace A. White, Jr. of Maine, today.

The boundary between Maine and New Brunswick was fixed by treaty nearly three-quarters of a century ago. The treaty followed what was known as the Aroostook war. While that treaty laid that boundary line, "I have not heard of anything in the peace treaty pending in the Senate or that negotiations are pending anywhere to enlarge the treaty between Maine and New Brunswick," Secretary of State Lansing, who was a member of the peace delegation of the United States, was informed of Sir Andrew McPhail's proposal.

MADE SICK BY CHOWDER, NOT CANDY

Official Report on East Boston Case Absolves Totman and Harm of Blame

Warned over chowder and not candy, was probably the cause of the illness in three East Boston persons. It is believed to have also sweetened candy, according to a report of County Health Commissioner N. L. H. Hough of Boston.

This report, made to Health Commissioner Woodward, stated that Mrs. Nathan Woodward, Madeline Beaulieu and Miriam Williams of No. 3117 Cambridge street, East Boston, claimed to have been made ill by eating candy at dinner. They asserted that the candy, purchased at the store of Totman and Ham, Great North Street, was not eaten by other men here of the family who did not become ill.

Dr. Hough's report absolved Totman and Ham of any blame.

Dr. Hough stated that samples of the candy were taken to his office and submitted to a chemical analysis, which proved them to be harmless. Members of the department, he said, also ate some of the candy with no ill effects.

The report points out that the three persons who were made ill also ate chowder, made on the previous day and again heated for use.

Only three times persons at both candy and chowder, according to Dr. Hough, and as they were the only ones made ill he believes that the chowder was responsible.

Here's Why Messenger Boy Sometimes Is a Little Tardy

Here's a new messenger boy story. Distracted suburbanite telephoned for a messenger boy at 7:30 in the evening. Central office said the boy would be right along. Eight o'clock and no messenger. Nine also. No messenger. Followed a second call to the office. "Messenger left over an hour ago," said they. "He should have arrived by this time."

Drama proceeds. Nine-thirty. No messenger. Ten. No messenger. Ten-thirty. Still no messenger. They left hours ago. Should have been here and gone. What the office kept repeating.

Finally, at 11, distracted the call was put in for a second messenger.

At 11:10, a messenger arrived. He said, "I'm here. I've been waiting for you."

"You have been a long time coming," said the suburbanite, severely.

"No, I. I have lost several hours of my beauty sleep, waiting here."

"To which No. 1 referred. 'Well, you see, I'm tired. It wouldn't be good to go to bed at 11:10. And, as the clock struck 11:30, Messenger No. 1 arrived again. No. 2. A motorcycle chugged rapidly before the door."

SAY GIRL WAS IN PLOT WITH LEONARD

Stephen F. Leonard, former army store manager, who is wanted by the police on charges of fraud, had a girl companion with whom he planned to rob the monthly payroll of the department, amounting to $30,000 to $40,000, said officials of the department today.

To follow employees of Leonard, this girl was known simply as "Bertha" and used to carry sandwiches every day to Leonard, it was stated, for which he paid her 25 cents each later passing around the sandwiches to other employees some days the amount he paid to the girl was as high as $10, officials said.

According to their story, Leonard's desk was only five feet from the box containing the payroll. The payroll was received twice monthly, they said, but the box always contained money, sometimes as much as $40,000. Leonard is said to have made unsuccessful attempts to secure a position for this girl near his own desk. He is believed to be with him at present on his tour of New England on the day before Leonard dropped out of a suit, he is said to have "found" it about $100 gambling "Bertha" he described as about eighteen years, with exceptionally straight, bright eyes, a brunette, with blond skin and teeth, and well developed.

Hindenburg Satisfied Germany's Methods Were the Best

By International News Service.
Berlin Nov. 14.—"If the war were to be fought over again on the basis of the same knowledge of the world situation we had in 1914, I would take the same measures that I did during the struggle," Field Marshal von Hindenburg, former chief of staff of the German army, was quoted as saying in an interview granted by the former commander-in-chief, president of the senate of the Reichstag, his personal chief of staff, last night upon leaving the responsibility for a decision. He made an exception of policy, however, saying that he was not responsible for the policy of the country.

Von Hindenburg came here to testify before the war guilt commission of the National Assembly.

The Store of GOOD

Please note that we say "GOOD" overcoats. That means more than usual this season. For while there's a fair supply of substitutes—poorly made and of inferior fabrics—the shortage in really fine overcoats is the greatest we've ever known. Only by the most strenuous efforts can even these Eight Great Kennedy Stores keep an adequate supply on hand.

But assurance of high quality isn't the only advantage we offer our overcoat customers. Our greater value-giving is unusually conspicuous this season by reason of our having placed tremendous orders long before prices advanced so drastically. In fact, few, if any, of our overcoats could be bought at wholesale today at the prices we are selling them for.

RU OUT SNOBS, URGES LADY ASTOR

Candidate for Commons Confident of Victory on Eve of Election

By International News Service.
Plymouth, England, Nov. 14.—The most unique political campaign in the history of England wound up here today with Mrs. Astor, who is a candidate for a husband's seat in Commons, confident of success and still pleading for votes.

The polling will take place to-morrow. Mrs. Astor, who is a candidate for a husband's seat in Commons, confident of success and still pleading for votes.

RECEIVED BY AUDIENCE.
If Ramsay MacDonald and Pro-Sweden (proletariat) had had their way you would have been doing the same step on the banks of the River Hootoday," cried Mrs. Astor after the close of her first speech to an audience composed of many ex-soldiers.

One man in the audience attempted to break the candidate and she turned upon him, exclaiming:

"Take that electric out of your mouth if you are talking to me!"

A gray-haired man shouted at a laborer:

"I was wounded twice at the front and I am forty-five years of age."

"Now, that is the sort of man I want to represent in Parliament," said the Viscountess in triumph.

HITS AT CRITICS.
Persons sympathetic with the Independent Labor party followed the candidate from meeting to meeting but failed to disconcert her. After one fusillade of questions, she exclaimed:

"The firing parties come out in hundreds. It is a pity they did not use more ammunition in the trenches instead of saving it for me."

In reply to some jokes at her wealth, she flung back:

"What is the use of having a palace if you have no time to sit in it?
I want to see the people who are talking God and Christianity practicing it. I want to see the stunts and humbugs and hypocrites wiped out!"

FATHER BREAKS SCHOOL STRIKE IN IPSWICH

Judge Takes Leader Back and Movement by Pupils Collapses at Once

Ipswich, Nov. 14.—How're you going to be a high school boy and lead a strike for one reason when your father broke up the strike by carting you back to school in the morning?

That's the way George Hayes, an Ipswich high school boy, felt today when, after leading his fellow pupils on a strike yesterday, he was led back to school today by his father.

At that moment the strike collapsed and school went on as usual.

Among those who led the strike were: George Hayes, George Hayes, James and Leonard Sullivan, senior Alcey Story and George Benedict.
Also, Katherine Herrigan and twelve other pupils.

The committee waited upon Superintendent of Schools Horton, who declared that he would tolerate no "disobedience" in the school, and that pupils remaining out today would be considered automatically expelled.

Following the capitulation of their chairman, the members of the strike were back today in unconditional surrender to the old two-session basis.

OPEN DRIVE FOR 'BETTER BABIES' IN FRANCE

People Aroused Over Increasing Death Rate and Decrease in Number of Births

By International News Service.
Paris, Nov. 14.—A campaign for "more and better babies" has been launched in France and today it is in full swing. It may be said to have been started when Premier Clemenceau, speaking in the Senate declared:

"If France refuses to have large families, she is lost."

The war and its terrible wastage in human life has aroused the people of France to the fact that they alone of all of the great nations of the world showed a greater number of deaths than births each year.

While the birth rate was steadily decreasing in France the nations of the German Empire were mothering babies to such an extent that the army of birth over deaths was reaching 1,000,000. And that was one of the reasons as the world was hungering for Germany was able to throw men in countless numbers against the western battle front, while she was holding back the Russians to the east.

Now the movement for more babies is being taken up seriously by women everywhere all over France. A national meeting is to be held shortly in Paris to discuss measures for reviving the country. It will be attended by both men and women.

GERMAN TEARS BRITISH BACKS BOLSHIEVKS

Toutons See English Commission's Trip to Moscow as Recognition of "Reds"

By KARL E. VON WIEGAND,
Boston American Staff Correspondent.

British Wireless Dispatch.
Berlin, Nov. 14.—There is a growing fear, amounting almost to conviction, on the part of the German government that England is preparing to abandon her aggressive and hostile attitude by negotiating with Lenin and Trotsky for peace, leaving Germany to its fate by trying to stem the renewed rising tide of Bolshevism.

Confidential information is said to have reached that the British Government, in London, is already in Moscow, while a British commission of four members is expected to have arrived at Helmsingford, November 4 and to be proceeding to Moscow for the purpose of entering into negotiations with Lenin.

This information, coupled with other developments hinted at in quarters close to the British government, has caused the latter much uneasiness, and it has been extremely anxious to visit in its policies.

Germany alone, it is argued, could not hold out against Bolshevism if England negotiates peace with the latter, disregarding German entirely.
